

Salty Dog

makes 1 cocktail

- 6 ounces fresh grapefruit juice
- 2 ounces vodka*
- 1/4 cup crushed ice
- 1 splash grapefruit bitters
- sea salt, I like crushed Himalayan pink

Spread 1/2 cup of salt on a small plate. Run one of the spent grapefruits around the edge of a rocks glass. Dip the rim of the glass in the salt to coat the edge. (Like a margarita—get it?)

Combine juice, vodka (*use gin instead and it becomes a Greyhound), ice and bitters in a shaker and give it a good workout.

Either strain into the glass, or pour in the whole thing. Personally, I like it with the ice.
